

SUMMARY

1. Female garment providing a sexually stimulating effect, essentially characteristic in that it is worn over
5 the waist, buttocks and groin by the female user, the garment consisting in a part that surrounds the waist and is fitted with a ring at the front center part thereof to which is attached or otherwise fastened the front end of a perineal cord composed of one or more strings of beads
10 which extend over the groin and buttocks of the female wearer, the cord being attached through its rear end to a fastening means on the center of the rear part, on the user's back, to exert friction on the external genitalia upon walking or moving the legs in order to produce a 15 sexually stimulating effect on the wearer, the garment further providing a sexually therapeutic, playful or erotic effect.